3 KEVIN BELL	3 cases. The parties agreed to prioritize the cases and
4	4 proceed to mediation before Judge Hurkin-Torres to the
5	5 extent that his schedule permitted. Your Honor so ordered
6	6 that hearing transcript to reflect those agreed-upon
7	7 procedures and the parties began mediating the cases

9	8 starting in June.
10	9 As of today, Your Honor, we have conducted
11	10 numerous mediations with the defendants and engaged in 11 several attorney-only sessions with Judge Hurkin-Torres. As 12	12 I know Your Honor is aware based on your approval of
13	13 numerous dismissal stipulations, overall this has been a
14	14 very successful process.
15	15 As of today, the parties with the assistance of 16	16 Judge Hurkin-Torres have reached settlements in
17	17 approximately 30 cases. We have had only one failed
18	18 medication in the Carol Kamenstein case which is adversary
19	19 proceeding number 10-4469. And in that case, Your Honor
20	20 entered a pre-trial scheduling order with a final pre-trail
21	21 conference currently scheduled for January 27, 2021 before
22	22 Chief Judge Morris.
23	23 However, despite all of this progress, Your Honor,
24	24 it seems unfortunately that we may have reached the end of
25	25 the road, as the parties seem to be at an impasse as to how

As Your Honor may recall, we were before the Court earlier this year on May	1 to proceed. Based on discussions with Judge Hurkin-Torres 2 through last night, it is the Trustee's understanding that 3 Ms. Chaitman is unwilling to schedule any additional 4 mediations in the remaining cases until some time after the 5 trial and the Kamenstein case is fully concluded. 6 As I mentioned, that case is scheduled for final 7 pre-trial conference in January and the trial is unlikely to 8 be fully completed until next year. As we explained through 9 the mediator, it is the Trustee's position that the cases 10 should not remain stagnant for a period of several months 11 given that we just passed the 10th anniversary of the filing 12 of the complaints in all of these actions. 13 Moreover, the parties agreed and this Court so 14 ordered the parties to adhere to this agreed-upon mediation 15 process and the corresponding time-table. If we were to 16 take Ms. Chaitman's proposed approach, we would have the 17 procedural posture of one case dictating the pace of all of 18 her remaining cases, which Your Honor has indicated would 19 not be appropriate. 20 Rather, it is the Trustee's position that given 21 the clear law of the case in these proceedings, we should 22 continue the mediation process and try to resolve these

6 MR. BELL: Your Honor, Kevin Bell for SIPC.

7 THE COURT: Go ahead, Mr. Bell.

8 MR. BELL: Today is day 4,400 of this liquidation

9 proceeding. Last Friday we began the 13th year of this

10 proceeding. These complaints have been live for over 3,700

11 days. Last Friday Judge Morris in Mann following your

12 ruling -- your decision in Nelson reiterated again that this

13 is two-year absolute strict liability, something you said on 14 February 14, 2014. We have net losers who don't have their

15 money for these number of years, and we can't even get a

16 commitment for the eight Thursdays in January or February

17 what mediations we would set with Ms. Chaitman to set them

18 up so that we could move forward, you know?

19 It is an -- unfair to the net losers to kick it

20 out another four, six, eight months depending whether

21 Kamenstein decision goes against Ms. Chaitman, she appeals,

22 and then she appeals again. We may be three years before we

23 get to anything further. And Judge Morris clearly rejected

24 any extension.

25 THE COURT: Uh-huh. You know, Ms. Chaitman it

2 bankruptcy court, district court, or circuit level. Things

22 that, you know, many of the net losers have received their

23 full amount of compensation. And I understand all these

24 things, but what I'm concerned about is just pushing these

3 can't stop, so I guess the bottom line is your choice. I

4 mean, I can't speak for Judge Morris, but your choice is 5 either going to be to mediate these cases or try them.

6 MS. CHAITMAN: Well, I'm perfectly willing to 7 mediate the remaining cases. It was the Trustee that

8 terminated the Kamenstein mediation in the middle without

9 any basis, in my opinion, but the point is I can move --

10 THE COURT: Well, do you think it's worth -- do

11 you think it's worthwhile -- let me just ask you, do you

12 think it's worthwhile -- I don't want to get into who said

13 what to whom at the mediation obviously or the particular of 14 the mediation, but you know, if you think it's worthwhile to 15 continue the mediation with Kamenstein, that's fine, you can

16 discuss that with the Trustee. If the two sides are so far

17 apart that any continuation of the mediation is just a waste

18 of time, move on to the next case and try Kamenstein.

19 MS. CHAITMAN: Well, the problem is that the pre-

20 trial preparation for the Kamenstein trial, particularly in 21 the month of December, is absolutely massive and I do not --

22 the mediations take an enormous amount of my time, and I do

23 not -- I cannot do both things at the same time. That's 24 basically what it comes down to.

25 MR. BELL: Your Honor, Kevin Bell at SIPC.

MR. BECKERLEGGE: Yes. Good morning, Your Honor.

2 It's Robertson Beckerlegge from Baker & Hostetler for the 3 Trustee.

4 THE COURT: Good morning.

5 MR. FINN: Good morning, Your Honor. Andrew Finn

6 from Sullivan & Cromwell on behalf of the Standard Chartered

7 defendants.

8 THE COURT: Okay. Go ahead, Mr. Finn.

9 MR. FINN: Thank you, Your Honor. As the Court is 10 aware, this is a subsequent transferee case seeking to 11 recover transfers from -- or alleged transfers from 12 Fairfield Sentry. The operative complaint was filed in 13 2012. It does not allege any absence of good faith under 14 any standard and thus fails to state a claim. I don't think 15 there's any dispute really about that.

16 The Trustee, however, moved to amend his complaint

17 in October seeking for the first time in this case to allege

18 an absence of good faith by the Standard Chartered

19 defendants who did so expressly in an effort to meet the 20 willful blindness standard, that as the Court is aware was

21 confirmed by Judge Rakoff's good faith decisions in 2011 and

22 2014, and which particularly apply in cases like this where

23 the initial transferee was a significant net loser in 24 Madoff's scheme as Fairfield Sentry was. And so, you know,

25 there's a requirement that the Trustee has to allege at

Honor. 1 faith issue, which is potentially dispositive here, before

1 faith issue, which is potentially dispositive here, before

Page 28

2 the 2nd Circuit resolves that issue, hopefully once and for

3 all. We want the good faith issue here to be decided once

4 and we think it should end the case, but in practical terms,

5 we think that means waiting for the 2nd Circuit to rule.

6 As we've noted in our briefs, Your Honor, the 7 Trustee has conceded in other cases where he's sought a stay

8 that pending the 2nd Circuit decision that doing so would

9 promote judicial efficiency and conserve the parties'

10 resources and would not unreasonably prejudice any party.

11 And as the Trustee stated in the ABN Amro case in 12 seeking a stay before Judge Caproni in the District Court,

13 the Trustee said that there's no reason to anticipate any

14 undue delay in the 2nd Circuit's decision. Indeed, as I

15 mentioned, now that we have a likely week for oral argument,

16 I think that's even more true.

17 You know, notwithstanding the Trustee's prior

18 positions in other cases, the Trustee has argued here that 19 we should move forward for two principal reasons. One, he

20 argues that his proposed amended complaint meets the willful

21 blindness standard in the 2nd Circuit's decision, therefore

22 somehow won't matter, and two, he speculates about the idea

23 that some evidence could be lost if we wait for the 2nd

24 Circuit to decide.

25 And if I may, Your Honor, I'm -- I'll address both

1 least willful blindness to avoid those transfers and recover

2 from individual transferees.

3 We're asking to hold briefing on the Trustee's

4 motion to amend in abeyance pending the 2nd Circuit's

5 decision in Citibank and the Legacy cases. We think doing

6 so will avoid the need for duplicative litigation on the 7 good faith issue, which is clearly going to be at issue and

8 is the sole basis for the Trustee's proposed amendments and 9 we think could be dispositive in this case.

10 As the Court is aware in Citi -- in the Citi and 11 Legacy appeals, the Trustee is challenging both Judge

12 Rakoff's good faith decisions and this Court's application

13 of those rulings in dismissing the Citibank and Legacy

14 complaints, arguing that even if Judge Rakoff got it right,

15 this Court got it wrong in dismissing the Citibank and 16 Legacy complaints.

17 My understanding is that those appeals have been

18 fully briefed, and I understand that yesterday the 2nd

19 Circuit proposed oral argument for the week of March 8th.

20 Most of the similarly situated subsequent transferee cases

21 involving Fairfield transfers have either been stayed or the 22 Trustee has simply not proceeded and apparently is waiting for the appeals to be resolved on the good faith issue.

 We don't think it makes sense to spend the 25 parties' resources and the Court's time litigating the good

1 of those just briefly. With respect to the complaint, Your

2 Honor, as set forth in our briefs, the Trustee simply

3 ignores the similarities of this case with Citi and Legacy

4 and the other cases -- subsequent transferee cases in

5 particular that this Court has dismissed for failure to 6 plead the absence of good faith, and he also overstates the 7 strengths of the proposed allegations in the -- in the 8 proposed complaint here.

Of course, the Trustee has put forth arguments in 10 opposition to the stay as to why the proposed amended

11 complaint meets the willful blindness test. We vigorously

12 disagree, but that just demonstrates that the sufficiency of 13 those allegations are going to be hotly contested here, and 14 we'd like that issue to be briefed and decided once by the 15 Court, nothing more.

16 On the second issue with respect to the potential

17 loss of evidence, Your Honor, the Trustee has not put forth

18 any real evidence that there's any potential loss of 19 anything here other than vague assertions about faded

20 memories and just general issues related to the passage of 21 time, which is going to affect both parties.

22 There's really nothing but speculation. As I

23 stated in my declaration, we're retaining information that

24 we collected and produced in the Anwar proceedings, which

25 were civil cases before Judge Marrero several years ago

Page 30 1 involving former clients of Standard Chartered who were --1 complaint in 2012 and how it does not allege a lack of good 2 who were suing the bank. 2 faith. 3 And with respect to the alleged issues with 3 THE COURT: Yeah, I'm familiar with the timeline 4 and Judge (inaudible) --4 discovery in the Anwar proceedings, the transcript excerpt 5 that the -- that the Trustee put forth demonstrates that in 5 MR. BECKERLEGGE: Okay. 6 fact those issues were addressed fully to the satisfaction THE COURT: -- 2014 decision, but the real -- the 7 of Judge Marrero and then Magistrate Judges Katson and Maas 7 real question is whether we should just wait to see what the who oversaw discovery there. 8 2nd Circuit says, because maybe it promoted judicial So, for these reasons, Your Honor, we think that -9 economy, and nobody's prejudiced, as you argued successfully 10 - and all the reasons stated in our brief, we think that a 10 in the RBS case. That's really (indiscernible). MR. BECKERLEGGE: Well, Your Honor -- well, I 11 stay is appropriate for the -- for the briefing of the 11 12 motion to amend. 12 would say two things in response to that, Your Honor. One, 13 13 the second circuit case is not dispositive of this case. With respect to discovery, Your Honor, given that 14 This case --14 the operative complaint doesn't allege any absence of good 15 faith under any standard, we don't think discovery should 15 THE COURT: Well, it may be, though, wouldn't it? 16 proceed. 16 In other words, if the 2nd Circuit says Judge Rakoff was 17 The Court in these cases is generally not allowed 17 wrong, the Trustee doesn't have to plead around an 18 discovery beyond Rule 2004 pre-complaint discovery until the 18 affirmative defense, you probably don't even have to amend 19 Trustee has alleged a legally sufficient claim, which he 19 your complaint, right? 20 hasn't done here, and the same rule should apply, 20 MR. BECKERLEGGE: But regardless of that fact, 21 particularly where here the Trustee had nearly three years 21 Your Honor, our proposed amended complaint as part of our 22 motion for leave to amend meets that -- meets that standard 22 before filing the complaint against Standard Chartered to 23 take Rule 2004 discovery. 23 and any higher standard, so therefore (indiscernible) --THE COURT: You say that, but that's a heavily On that the -- we received a subpoena back in 25 2009, produced an agreed-to production shortly thereafter, 25 litigated issue and we all know from the past how time-Page 31 Page 33 1 and it was only in 2012 that this complaint was filed, never 1 consuming that is. You're telling me --2 alleging any sort of absence of good faith. 2 MR. BECKERLEGGE: I agree --3 So, Your Honor (indiscernible) --3 THE COURT: -- this is a slam dunk and I can THE COURT: Were you -- was Standard Chartered one 4 decide it from the bench, and I've looked at it, and I'm not 5 of the entities that was dismissed under the 5 convinced that that's the case. You know, every one of 6 extraterritoriality decision? 6 these cases involves a 30 to 40-page decision going through 7 the factual allegations and then the law and then applying MR. FINN: Yes, Your Honor. So, that -- we were. 8 Primarily we fell under the comedy portion of that decision, 8 the law. 9 but yes, we were -- we had thought we were dismissed for And if I keep getting it wrong, as you say --10 about two years before --10 argue in Legacy and Citibank, why not wait for the 2nd 11 THE COURT: Uh-huh. 11 Circuit to tell me so, so I don't get it wrong again? 12 MR. FINN: -- coming back. 12 MR. BECKERLEGGE: I agree, Your Honor, that it is 13 THE COURT: Okay. Are you (indiscernible)? 13 a time-consuming process -- excuse me -- and that is 14 MR. BECKERLEGGE: (Indiscernible) for the Trustee, 14 actually one of the reasons why it is prejudicial to the 15 Your Honor. There's a few things that I would like to 15 Trustee. What defendants have written in their papers is 16 address in response to what Mr. Finn just said. One of them 16 actually -- if you read it closely is actually a signal to 17 first and foremost has to do with timing. I think they have 17 where this is likely to go. This is not merely just a stay 18 ---18 about the results of the 2nd Circuit appeal, Your Honor. 19 THE COURT: I'm sorry, with what? 19 What they do in their papers is they signal that this is 20 MR. BECKERLEGGE: The -- with respect to timing, 20 likely the first tip of the stay iceberg as they try to kick 21 Your Honor. 21 this case as far down the road as possible, because not only 22 THE COURT: Uh-huh. 22 is there --23 23 MR. BECKERLEGGE: I think that the defendants in THE WITNESS: What does that mean? 24 24 Standard Chartered have played a little bit loose with the MR. BECKERLEGGE: -- the possibility of appeals 25 timeline in this case by talking about the operative 25 from the second (indiscernible) reconsideration or a

THE COURT: Let me give a chance to Mr. Finn to 20 And those documents were encompassed, they were 20 respond. 21 reviewed, they were produced, and they were relevant in 21 MR. FINN: Thank you, Your Honor. First of all, 22 on the points about -- or point about, you know, 22 Anwar, and those categories of documents are directly 23 relevant here, Your Honor. 23 coordinating with other cases, my point in mentioning those You know, we've waited a very long time to try to 24 in our briefing is that a stay here would not, you know, 25 move this case forward and continue, and the inability to do 25 completely delay progress of important issues here, Page 39 Page 41 1 that is prejudicial to the Trustee, and it's not just 1 particularly the fact that the Fairfield case is going 2 speculative, and I appreciate what Mr. Finn is saying about 2 forward. It means the progress can be made there, and of 3 those documents have all been retained, but again, the focus 3 course, the allegations in that complaint that are going to 4 has to be on the burden. There is no burden here to 4 be subject to a motion to dismiss before Chief Judge Morris 5 Standard Chartered to produce those documents as he -- as 5 are expressly incorporated by reference in the proposed 6 amended complaint here. That was only -- that was my point 6 was written four years ago. Those documents have been 7 in noting that. That case is proceeding, so that will also 7 reviewed and produced. 8 potentially provide the parties guidance here if --8 And more importantly, if there's any transcripts, 9 because again we sought transcripts related to that 9 depending on the timing. 10 litigation, Trustee is happy to pay for the production of 10 On the -- on the idea of omnibus briefing, you 11 those transcripts. One of our concerns is the fact --11 know, right now we don't know. The Trustee's counsel has 12 THE COURT: Dep -- are those deposition 12 represented that they are going to amend -- seek to amend an 13 transcripts or court transcripts? 13 - what I was told is about a dozen of similar -- these 14 MR. I believe they've done that in 15 one of the things we're concerned about is there may be 15 one other case so far, but you know, if the Trustee is going 16 witnesses of which we are not aware this document -- these -16 to do that, you know, there's nothing stopping the Trustee 17 - this production and these transcripts would aid us with. 17 from proposing amended complaints and the defendants in 18 Also, discovery is likely to be complex and time-consuming, 18 those cases can see if there's any common issues. That was 19 and it's -- it would be prejudicial if we would not start 19 my only point that we -- you know, we don't have to 20 that now. 20 completely, you know, lose this time in these related cases. 21 THE COURT: Are you saying that after you get the 21 On discovery, I think I need to clarify how prior 22 paper discovery or document discovery, you're then going to 22 discussions unfolded. As I mentioned, the Trustee sent a 23 want to take depositions while all of this is pending? 23 Rule 2004 subpoena to Standard Chartered in 2009. We had 24 24 negotiations with the -- with the Trustee's counsel shortly MR. BECKERLEGGE: It's entirely possible that the

- 3 filed in 2015, the Trustee's counsel came to us while the
- 4 extraterritoriality motion was pending, and said we think
- 5 your Rule 2004 subpoena production was insufficient.
- And after several negotiations, rather than coming
- 7 to the Court in the midst of the motion to dismiss on
- 8 extraterritoriality grounds, we engaged in, you know, good
- 9 faith meet-and-confers with the Trustee's counsel in 2015
- 11 In that context, and as set forth -- I believe
- 12 it's Exhibit D to Mr. Foreman's declaration and opposition
- 13 of our motion -- I set --
- 14 THE COURT: Correct.
- 15 MR. FINN: -- forth in 2016, provided the
- 16 Trustee's counsel with details about what we thought in the
- 17 Anwar discovery might be -- might be responsive to what we
- 18 expected the Trustee's request might be, and in order to,
- 19 you know, move the ball along a little bit while we were
- 20 waiting for the decision on extraterritoriality.
- 21 Now, we never -- I made it very clear to Mr.
- 22 Foreman at the time that we could not flip a switch and
- 23 produce these materials. What we did is we went back in our
- 24 -- in our meet-and-confer context and looked at categories
- 25 that we knew we collected, we knew we produced, but of
- 24 the Katz decision that Judge Rakoff had to further elaborate
- - Page 43
- 1 course the discovery in Anwar was not the same. There were
- 2 different issues, different discovery requests, and we do
- 3 not have these categories in, you know, a nice little
- 4 package that we can press send over to the Trustee's counsel
- 5 and --
- 6 THE COURT: Can I ask a question, though? Let me 7 just -- I just want to interrupt.
- 8 MR. FINN: (Indiscernible).
- THE COURT: Inevitably good faith is going to be
- 10 an issue in the case, whether the Trustee has to disprove it
- 11 or you have to prove it, assuming that the Trustee is able
- 12 to amend the complaint after the 2nd Circuit clarifies the
- 13 standard. So, why not produce, you know, the information
- 14 relating to Standard Chartered's good faith?
- 15 MR. FINN: Your Honor, a couple reasons. First,
- 16 we don't think that it's appropriate for Standard Chartered
- 17 to have to bear additional costs after the Trustee had a
- 18 full opportunity to pursue Rule 2004 discovery and decided
- 19 not to before filing the complaint and could have done so on
- 20 the good faith issue.
- Keep in mind, Your Honor, that this case was
- 22 actually filed after the Katz decision where Judge Rakoff
- 23 first explained or set forth the willful blindness standard.
- 24 It wasn't a secret that good faith was going to be an issue,
- 25 and the Trustee decided to not pursue discovery then. And

- 3 you know, litigate the sufficiency of a proposed amended
- 4 complaint that for the first time alleges the absence of bad
- 5 faith, you know, we think is completely unfair to Standard
- 6 Chartered.
- In addition, we do anticipate making, you know,
- 8 additional arguments in opposition to the amendment,
- 9 particularly with respect to timing of the amendment,
- 10 notwithstanding all the proceedings --
- 11 THE COURT: Uh-huh.
- 12 MR. FINN: -- that went on. We think based on the
- 13 timing of the complaint, the Trustee could have and should
- 14 have alleged if he had a theory back in 2012 the absence of
- 15 good faith, you know, from the (indiscernible) --
- 16 THE COURT: Well, he didn't have to do that until 17 2014, right?
- 18 MR. FINN: Well, Your Honor, as I mentioned, 2011
- 19 was the Katz case, which did set out in the context of
- 20 548(c) the good faith standard (inaudible) requiring at
- 21 least willful blindness. Now, it is true that it wasn't
- 22 until 2014 because the Trustee continued to pursue cases
- 23 against subsequent transferees and others notwithstanding
- 25 and make it very clear that that applied with respect to
- 1 550(b), and that also required an affirmative duty to plead.
- But my point is, Your Honor, that the Trustee was
- 3 alleging at the time, against others, the absence of good
- 4 faith. The complaint here relies primarily on the
- 5 production we provided in 2009 in addition to allegations
- 6 which were cut and paste from plaintiff's lawyer's
- 7 submissions back in 2012, in 2013 in the Anwar case, so
- 8 nothing here is really new.
- In addition to the timing point, Your Honor, we
- 10 have what we think are independent grounds for dismissal
- 11 based on the fact that the allegations here don't plausibly
- 12 allege that any Standard Chartered defendant was actually a
- 13 transferee of the funds sought to be recovered. And the
- 14 proposed amended complaint does not plausibly allege that
- 15 any of the funds received by SBC supposedly were traceable
- 16 through initial transfers.
- THE COURT: Uh-huh. 17
- MR. FINN: The proposed amended complaint I think
- 19 bears this out. The proposed amended complaint suggests
- 20 that by the time of the two-year transfers here, Standard
- 21 Chartered wasn't purchasing any shares of Fairfield on its
- 22 own behalf. It was actually its clients who were investing
- 23 in the fund and the bank was facilitating that, and you
- 24 know, as alleged, recommending the fund to its clients.
- 25 But you know, that really disproves any sort of

Pg 14 of 29 Page 46 Page 48 1 actual transferee status of any of the named Standard 1 moved for a stay of its own appeal and the District Court 2 Chartered defendants. So, we think it would be, you know, 2 granted it. The Court has, quote, "brought discretion to 3 highly unfair to go forward on discovery, and the discovery 3 stay civil proceedings as an incident to its power to 4 being good faith, which of course the Trustee could have 4 control its own docket," close quote, Clinton v. Jones, 520 5 asked for documents back in 20 -- 2009 when we were -- and 5 U.S. 681 at page 706 (1997). 6 2010 or 2011 when we were actually in the midst of Anwar Courts have considered five factors in determining 7 discovery, and you know, we could have addressed that at 7 whether to grant a stay in a civil action. They are the 8 that time 8 private interests of the plaintiffs in proceeding So, you know, we --9 expeditiously as balanced against the prejudice to the 10 THE COURT: Did you -- did your client answer in 10 plaintiffs if delayed, the private interests of and burden 11 on the defendants in the interests of the Court, the 11 this case or it's just not occurred yet? 12 MR. FINN: That hasn't occurred yet, Your Honor. 12 interests of persons not parties to the civil litigation, 13 THE COURT: Okay. All right. Is there anything 13 and the public interest. 14 else? 14 Stays and civil actions, open quote, "Are 15 MR. State 18 know, it seems that this is sort of a made-up excuse. The 18 Bank of India, 802 F.Supp 2d 482, 490 (S.D.N.Y. 2011), and 19 transcripts from (indiscernible) --19 courts in this circuit often stay proceedings when a higher 20 THE COURT: You think -- you think it's going to 20 court is close to settling an important issue of law bearing 21 be free -- you think it's going to be free to do this? 21 on the action, e.g. Sikhs For Justice v. I think the Trustee's --23 The motion to amend should be stayed because the 24 THE COURT: Okay. 24 2nd Circuit's decision in related appeals, to wit the 25 MR. BECKERLEGGE: -- willing to pay for production 25 Citibank and Legacy appeals, will bind the Court as to those

1 controlling issues of law, specifically the Trustee's

2 pleading burden and the subjective versus objective standard

3 of knowledge, and forestall the need for this Court to 4 needlessly expend judicial resources addressing them. The briefing in the Second Circuit on those cases

6 is complete and I'm advised that oral argument has been set

7 for the week of March 8, 2021. Thus, granting the stay

8 would not only promote judicial economy but also would

9 reduce the risk of inconsistent rulings thereby fostering 10 the orderly administration of justice and minimizing the 11 risk of having to revisit this Court's decision on 12 reconsideration of further appeal.

13 The Trustee has a strong interest in this stay

14 because absent one he would have to needlessly expend

15 resources on simultaneous litigation of identical

16 controlling questions of law in the 2nd Circuit and this

17 Court. And as the defendant is the movant herein, it's not 18 claiming prejudice.

19 Finally, a stay of the -- of the motion serves the 20 best interest of the non-parties and the public by

21 conserving judicial resources and avoiding the possibility

22 of conflicting decisions. A stay will serve not only the 23 interests of the Court and the parties but also the 24 interests of non-parties and the public in the orderly and

25 efficient of judicial resources. See Albert v. Blue Diamond

1 of any transcripts. And with respect to the documents, you

2 know, they were able to -- they've already been reviewed and

3 produced in another case and are thus -- and they were able

4 to be produced at the time we were having these discussions

5 on a quote, "expedited," basis.

Those are their words, not ours. So, I don't

7 think there are a tremendous amount of costs associated with 8 that. And there's simply no reason not to produce the 9 documents as they have a -- as they bear on Standard

10 Charter's. I think Your Honor asked that question at the outset, and I think that is a very reasonable question and 12 it's also -- there's no reason not to produce those 13 documents at this time.

14 THE COURT: Well, unless you're denied a motion to 15 amend, either before or after the 2nd Circuit rules, then

16 you have no complaint. Because the first complaint, the 17 original complaint, is clearly insufficient under the 18 existing rules, right?

19 MR. BECKERLEGGE: Under the -- under -- given the 20 pending rules, yes, but hence the reason for our motion in 21 the first place (indiscernible) to amend.

22 THE COURT: Okay. I got it. Look, I'm going to

23 grant the motion, and what I'm about to say may sound

24 familiar because a lot of it is taken from the brief that

25 the Trustee filed in the RBS case, in which the Trustee

5	on the 2nd Circuit's decision, and if it upholds the	5

8	In addition, as I mentioned during the argument,	8 Sonya Ledanski Hyde
9	I'm a little concerned that this is analogous to pre-	9
